Sherman General through Atlanta on his renowned march to the sea, that city contained a population of about four thousand inhabitants. To-day, according to the Memphis And lanche, it numbers nearly forty thousand souls; its business houses, hotels and residences are a credit to any city in the Union, and its merchants are men of great liberality, who claim to have complete control of the trade for miles around, The Acadanche justly says that this progress is "creditable to the enter-prising spirit of its people," but it neg-lects to add that most of the capital, and most of the energy, tact and foresight of which this prosperous condition of affairs is the result, has been supplied by the North. Atlantais nown "Southern" city y in name, all the principal arteries her trade and commerce being filled with transfused blood.

AFTER all the premature croaking about the destruction of crops, the real facts are gratifying. The Agricultural Department at Washington, having under its control the most perfect system for procuring exact reports, now states that promises at least 96 per cent of an aver age yield, and with good weather will go beyond that. The wheat yield will be 92 per cent of a full crop, which, with the eavy surplus of old wheat on hand, will be ample for all purposes of home concrop, barley a full average, potatoes much beyond an average yield and tobacco 20 cent in excess of the usual amount In view of these facts would it not be well for some of the scare to be withdrawn from the prices of grain? Wheat, flour and oats are much higher than the facts stify. Of course present prices cannot e maintained. The activity of the specu lators has been felt by the poor in the prices of bread, but the laws of supply and demand are inexorable, and wheat and corn will have to come down

THE Cincinnati Commercial tell all about Sam Cary's drink of beer and gives the philosophy of it, viz: Whoever has read Charles Lamb's essay upon "Roast Pig," will recall the circumstances that, when the little Chinese boy, who had scorched his fingers while turning over the remains of the pig that had been roasted in the ourning of his father's cabin, stuck them into his mouth to cool them and discover ed that the fat with which they were covered was delightful to the sense of taste, the next thing he hid was to thrust them into the smoking pig again to con firm the discovery he had made that roast pig is good. The surprise of General Cary was equally as great as the creamy fluid oiled its way down his melodious throat for the first time, and with the exclamation, "it is glorious," he ex tended his mug for more. As one swal low does not make a summer, so one swallow of beer could not produce a per manent impression. A required the con-firmation of a second glass to photograph the fact, so to speak, upon the General's mind, that honeatly-brewed beer is neither poisosous nor intoxicating

THE St. Paul Poincer Press says tha this week, and perhaps the following one, will be a very critical period for the wheat harvest of Minnesota. The crop has escaped all the perils that menaced i during its growth and maturity, but it i exposed to as much damage from we weather during the harvest, or after the harvest, if the stacks are not properly thatched as it could possibly have suf-fered if it had been assailed by all the legions of its visible and invisible encmies of the air, meteorological and entomological, combined or in succession.

For several years in succession the farmers of a large part of Minnesota lost a great portion of their crops from heavy and continuous rains during the period of harvesting, or from the ruinous effect of driving and prolonged rains upon badly-thatched stacks. A good prehension is felt lest a like calamitous experience shall befall them during the

THE RECENT ACCIDENT to the House Tunnel, where by the falling of a great amount of rock travel was impeded, re-Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, last week, whereby a tenio was crushed. A third disaster of the kind also occurred about the same time in California. It is school that three accidents of this character are contemporary, and the fact has directed general attention to rallway tunnelling. There is a fear that too little attention has been paid to their construction, and that the archways and roof-supports are faulty. A tunnel, like a bridge, is liable to injury from the jar of passing trailer, contemporary, and these disasters show that faulty construction cannot be too carefully guarded against. Until within a few years, tunnelling was rare on American rallway, the Rending, Pennsylvania, and two or fire cother roads having been among the earliest to construct them. And first let us begin with Governor Allen's testimony, that here at home, in the State of Ohio, the Republican party was so pure that in the record of the nearly wenty years that it held control of the State Government, the Democrats have been able to find, "after the most careful examination, no a single case of official corruption." This is the unqualified, unsolicited testimony of a political opponent. It covers the whole ground, and above all, it is true. above all, it is true.

In the broader field of National affair.

the Republican party and administration suppressed the great Democratic slave suppressed the great Democratic staveholders' rebellion, the most powerful and determined revolt against popular government in history.

It gave freedom and equal rights to all citizens of the Republic, and broke the shackles of slavery from a race which under democratic rule would have been enslaved forever.

It established the best system of banking and currency the nation ever enjoyed,

It introduced the convenient and labor saving system of free mail delivery, and has completed negotiations for the most rapid and complete interior mail transportation in the world without increasing the expense over the cost of ordinary speed.

It has introduced and perfected the Bureau of Storm Signals and Weather Reports, thereby saving immense annual losses of life and property to the mercantile marine and giving to all classes of people the convenience of accurate productions as to the probable weather.

It has built the Pacific Railroad, unitate the Pacific and Atlantic groups of ing the Pacific and Atlantic groups of States and bringing the whole country States and bringing the whole country into more thorough unity and sympathy. It revived the beneficent system of river and harbor improvements which had been discouraged and abandoned by the Democrata during their lease of power from 1739 to 1861.

It has paid off—including unsettled claims at the close of the war—nearly one thousand millions of the National delt, and by its honest consistent man-

By a judicious system of protection, it has fostered and built up in the last ten years, since the war, many times more manufactures than were created during the twenty years of Democratic rule be-fore the war.

By consummate diplomacy a Republi-can Congress and administration brought can Congress and administration brought England to a peaceful settlement of the Alabama difficulty, by which Great Britain paid to the United States Treasury sixteen and a half million in currency for damages done to American shipping by Anglo rebel pirates.

They also secured the relinquishment of British claims to the Island of San Juan, and established an equitable boundary between the Federal and British territory, an achievement which the Anninistration of Buchanan undertook but signally falled to accomplish.

They disbanded the Union armies immediately upon the close of the war, with-mediately upon the close of the war, with-

They dishanded the Union armies im-mediately upon the close of the war, with-out disorder or demoralisation to civil society, and reduced the regular army to a smaller proportion than it had ever be-fore borne to the entire population. Finally, the Republican party has been from its inception, the guardian and pro-moter of popular intelligence and educa-tion. It has been the steadfast friend of free education; it has fostered immigra-tion of National progress.

It says that the debt of the Nation shall be honorably paid; that the plighted faith of the Government in respect to the integrity of the currency shall be kept inviolate, and that as soon as consistent with the exigencies of husiness, the currency of the Republic shall be raised to par value, with coin, and become part of the machinery of the universal commerce. Compare this record with that of the Democracy that once fostered abserve and now advocates inflation, and judge which is the party of the people and the future. THE present population of Ireland is 5,418,377; in 1841 it was 8,100,853; in 1851, 6,514,473, showing a falling of of 1,685,380 in ten years. In 1861 the population was 5,798,624. The census of 1871 just published, shows a falling off during the decade ending that year of only about 386,000, and it is believed that the next census will show some gain, the emigra tion to the United States having been much smaller of late years than formesly. The difference between the population of experience shall befall them during the pending harvest, and leat the remarkably heavy and continuous rain storms which have prevailed a few degrees of intitude below us, and throughout the corresponding thermal belt all around the globe may be transferred to this latitude and this region. Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan are about the only States north of the Ohio which have escaped this deluge of waters during the past few weeks, and the mercantile interest of the whole country, especially those connected with the grain trade, are watching with nervous anxiety the weather reports from this region, on which the world is largely dependent for its supplies of wheat. So far the weather has been favorable, but the harvest hag just fairly commenced, and nobody knows what may happen to-morrow. the Green Lile in 1841 and in 1871 was land, during which her people may be-

A singular Wedding.

A singular wedding took place at Vincaner, France, the other day. The ceremony was fixed for eleven o'clock in the morning, at which time all the parties appeared. The bridegroom looked sullen and annoyed all through the ceremony, although he said nothing out of the way. Suddenly, as they came out of the church, he took his new mother-in law aside and said to hor: "Madame, I have just been reflecting a great deal, and have concluded that your daughter does not suit me at all. I have never noticed before that she was freckled. I prefer to go away"; and notwithstanding her entreaties, he jumped into a passing carriege and drove hastily away.
